TO THE PUBLIC.

USEFUL information for those interested in the erection of buildings, artistic as well as durable. Much money has been spent on large buildings, without considering progressive ideas of construction, or pleasing effects in architecture. One of the greatest points to be considered is the scientific, as well as the practical manipulation of all raw material entering into these structures.

Long experience has taught me that nothing is too good in the way of material, and I spare no time, or expense to secure the best results obtainable in preparing the plans and specifications, and superintending the construction. You may have an elegant set of plans, and if the builder does not follow them, the owner is the loser, and the architect has to shoulder the blame. So many of our profession understand the theory but are unable to put the same into practical execution.

On the following pages of this pamphlet will be found a few suggestions to the public, also cuts of a few buildings executed in my office.

The advertisements that appear in this catalogue represent the very best firms in their respective lines and solicit first class work. Parties who desire good work and low prices will do well to correspond with them.

Yours respectfully,

FRANK P. MILBURN.

CHARLOTTE'S FINE COURT HOUSE.

A FEATURE of improvements in the South is the many new municipal buildings that have been erected, are under contract, or in contemplation. Considerable attention is given to the introduction of progressive ideas in these structures, and as a result there is to be seen many pleasing examples of architecture in this direction. Herewith is illustrated the new Temple of Justice for Mecklenburg County, North Carolina. It is one of the best in the State. It occupies the site of Queen Anne's Museum, built in 1776, on Tryon Street. The building is of fire proof construction, 75x120 feet, with granite foundations and approaches. Buff brick and buff stone facade, marble floors, and hardwood finish add to the beauty of the building. It is regarded as a remarkable building for the cost, $50,000, and much credit is given the County Commissioners for the wisdom of their choice. The Architect, Frank P. Milburn, of Charlotte, N. C., was selected, after plans prepared by twenty-seven prominent architects from all parts of the United States had been examined. The principal entrance is quite imposing, with open portico above, surmounted by a large dome of pleasing proportions. Manufacturers' Record, October 2, 1896.

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 16th, 1898.

To Whom it may Concern:

This is to certify that the Building Committee of the new Court House, of Charlotte, N. C., adopted plans submitted by Frank P. Milburn, Architect, for our new Court House, the same being in their judgment the best design submitted, from more than 20 Architects.

During the construction of our building, we found Mr. Milburn a practical man, and his plans have given us entire satisfaction.

Yours truly, (Signed) JNO. R. ERWIN, Chairman.

OFFICE OF
W. P. SNELGROVE,
COUNTY SUPERVISOR.

ANDERSON, S. C., Aug. 1st, 1898.

Mr. FRANK P. MILBURN,
Charlotte, N. C.

Dear Sir:

At a meeting of our building committee to day, which perhaps will be the last held, it was unanimously agreed that we should not adjourn without expressing our entire satisfaction with you as a man, who will carry out, to the letter, his contracts. You have intelligently and conscientiously discharged every duty and obligation imposed upon you by reason of being the Architect of the new Court House and Jail for Anderson County.

The Court House is given up to be the handsomest County building in the State, and our people all laud their praises of both the Jail and Court House.

There has not been a hitch between the Building Committee and the Contractors, and both buildings have been completed according to the plans and specifications furnished by you, and this speaks worlds for the Architect.

In addition, we want to say that you have made friends of this entire committee, and that you are at liberty to refer at any and all times to either of us.

Respectfully, (Signed) W. P. Snelgrove, Chairman.
" J. D. Maxwell, Sec'y.
" John H. Jones.
" J. F. Clardy.

I hereby certify that the signatures to the above instrument of writing are genuine. Witness my hand and official seal this Aug. 12th, 1898.

Varnish in Architecture.

A WORD FOR THE CLIENT.

There would be fewer mistakes made in the world if it were ordained that only the maker of a mistake should suffer the consequences. More care would be exercised, and a more perfect state of affairs would prevail if every man had to bear the whole brunt of his own errors or miscalculations.

Take the interior finishing of a house for instance, if a poor or unsuitable varnish is used for the woodwork, the real sufferer is neither the Architect who specified it, the Contractor or the Finisher, but the Owner who has no practical knowledge of Varnish, and who had nothing whatever to do with making the blunder.

It is largely within the power of the Architect to protect his client from becoming the victim of a mistake of this kind by carefully specifying the right Varnish.

If Hard Oil Finish is specified and used, the result will be the finest finish attainable on wood, but it should be remembered by both Architect and Client that there is no Hard Oil Finish but "Berry Brothers' Hard Oil Finish", and sealed cans bearing our label should be insisted upon.

Finished woods and interesting pamphlets on natural wood finishing sent free to any address upon application.
